1 Allen Hall

Currently home to the Religious Studies department, Allen Hall was built in 1950 by the Florida Baptist Convention at a time when the university had an affiliation with the Baptist denomination, which ended in the early 1990s.

62 → 71 Athletics Facilities

Stetson boasts many top-notch fields and facilities on and off campus, including: Edmunds Center, home to Hatter Basketball and Volleyball; the Softball complex Patricia Wilson Field; the Mandy Stoll Tennis Center; Soccer and Lacrosse fields; a training center for SU's Rowing Team on Lake Beresford; Melching Field at Conrad Park, home of Stetson Baseball; and Hatter Football at Spec Martin Memorial Stadium. For schedules or tickets, go to gohatters.com.

55 Carlton Union Building

The CUB is currently being enlarged from 52,000 square feet to 86,584 square feet, and the work will occur in phases through the summer of 2019. Over the coming years, the Commons dining hall will be enlarged and a wall of glass will be added across the east wall, providing a scenic view of green space and an exterior patio dining area.

4 Davis Hall

This academic building was erected in 1967 as an early home for the business school. It is named after the Davis family of Jacksonville. Today, Davis Hall is home to several academic programs housed within the College of Arts and Sciences.

5 duPont-Ball Library

The duPont-Ball Library, the oldest federal depository in Florida, was built in 1964 and was extensively renovated in 1999. It houses more than 330,000 books and bound periodicals, with approximately 245,000 federal documents in paper format. The library offers a large number of computers and more than 100 databases to help students with their research.

74 Historic DeLand Hall

DeLand Hall opened on Oct. 13, 1884. The original cost of the building was $4,000. The first academic building at Stetson's DeLand campus, DeLand Hall is now the oldest building in Florida that has been in continuous use for higher education.

6 Elizabeth Hall

Elizabeth Hall is the most easily recognizable building on the university's campus with its iconic crown-like white cupola on top, patterned after Independence Hall in Philadelphia. The building accommodates numerous academic departments, including Mathematics, Computer Science, and Communications Studies. It is also home to the Lee Chapel and the Beckerath organ.

7 Flagler Hall

Flagler Hall was financed and built in 1902 by railway magnate Henry M. Flagler. The structure originally housed the engineering program and Florida's first law school. Today it houses departments in the College of Arts and Sciences.

9 The Hand Art Center

The Homer and Dolly Hand Art Center, located at Palm Court (Quad), features two galleries: one to exhibit selections from Stetson's extensive collection of art by American Modernist artist Oscar Bluemner (1867-1938) and the other to display works from the university's permanent collection or for special shows by the Stetson community.

65 Hollis Center

The Hollis Center features a fitness/cardio room, solar-heated swimming pool, student lounge area, dance studio, game room and meeting rooms/classrooms. The center is also home to the Wellness and Recreation Department and Rinker Field House, which has an NCAA-sized basketball court and spectator seating.

10 Lynn Business Center

The Eugene M. and Christine Lynn Business Center is Stetson University's and Florida's first LEED-certified building. The School of Business Administration building features state-of-the-art technology, a 144-seat auditorium and the groundbreaking Roland George Investments Program.

80 Meadows Alumni House

Honoring alumnus Gary A. Meadows, the Meadows Alumni House is a welcome center where Stetson alumni and community gather for formal and informal seminars, receptions and meetings.

11 13 McMahan & Presser Halls

Home to one of the finest undergraduate music schools in the country, students are educated by artist faculty, using cutting-edge music technology that provides first-class performing opportunities in symphony orchestra, band, choirs, opera, musical theater, jazz, chamber music and solo.

19 ↔ 53 Residence Halls

Stetson has thirteen residence halls, eleven fraternity and sorority houses, four Catalyst Houses, and five apartment complexes. There are housing options to fit the needs of any student, whether they are coming in for their first year or finishing up their senior year. We also offer gender-neutral and pet-friendly housing for our residents. More information about the living options can be found at stetson.edu/housing.

16 Sage Science Center

Sage Science Center is home to Stetson's Biology, Chemistry and Physics departments. The building was recently renovated to include exhibition spaces for undergraduate research, larger laboratory study areas and state-of-the-art technology.

14 Rinker Environmental Learning Center

The RELC is a space constructed to complement the Earth- and environmental-science mission of the Gillespie Museum. The space is used by local students, environmental groups and Stetson students for presentations, demonstrations, meetings, lectures, workshops and special events.

79 Rinker Welcome Center

The new, three-story, 24,000 square-foot Marshall and Vera Lea Rinker Welcome Center is now welcoming prospective students and their parents to campus, assisting current students and welcoming alumni back to campus.

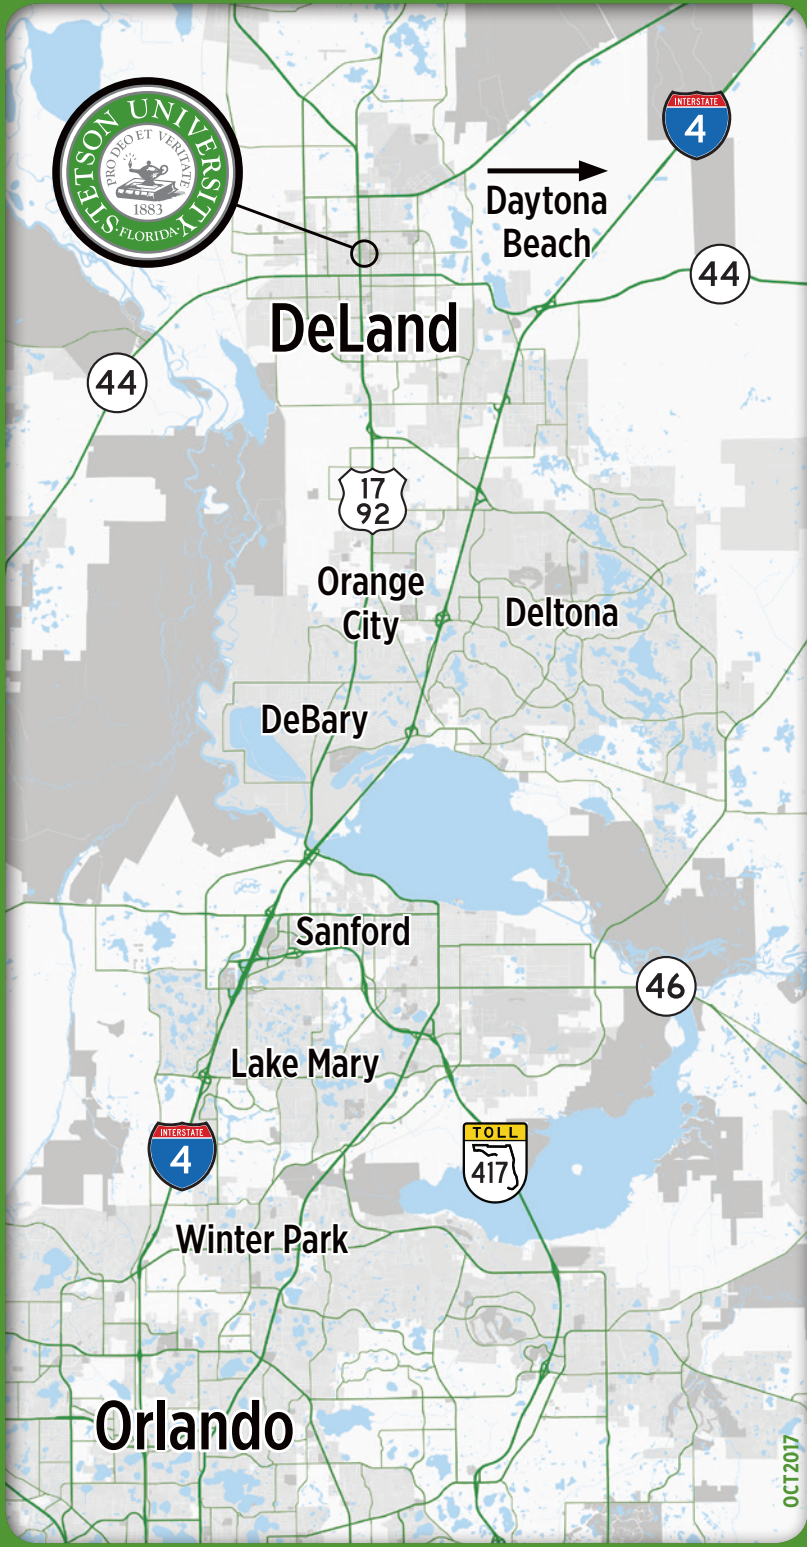

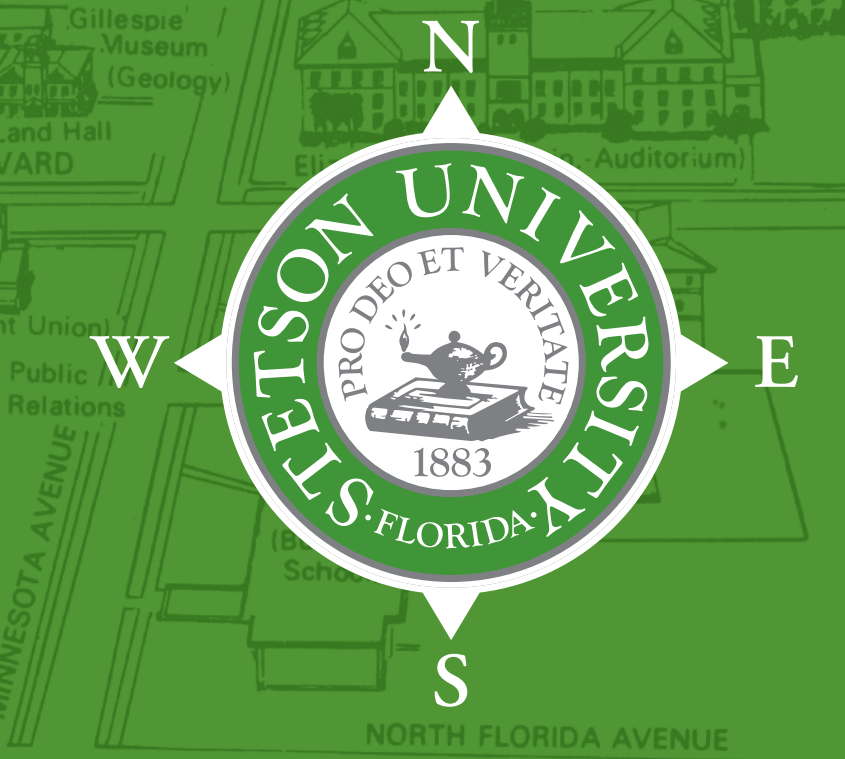

17 Sampson Hall

Built in 1908, Sampson Hall is one of the most architecturally significant buildings on campus. Partially funded by grants from Andrew Carnegie and Elizabeth Stetson, the building includes classrooms for Art, Modern Languages and American Studies. It also houses a Language Learning Commons and student art studios.

A Long History of Significance

New York entrepreneur Henry A. DeLand, who played a leading role in establishing the city of DeLand in 1876, founded the university as DeLand Academy. Thirteen students started classes in a rented building in 1883. The following year, Mr. DeLand erected a building at the corner of Woodland Boulevard and Minnesota Avenue to house classrooms and administrative offices. That building, now known as DeLand Hall, is the oldest building in Florida to be used continuously for higher education. After experiencing financial difficulties in the late 1880s, Mr. DeLand found it impossible to support the university. He turned to Philadelphia hatmaker John Batterson Stetson, who had recently built a winter home in DeLand. Mr. Stetson provided much-needed funding for the new institution, and in 1887, John B. Stetson was elected to the university's Board of Trustees. In 1889 the institution was renamed in his honor.
