

The Problem of the Month

November 2023

In a closed unit disk, seven points are located inside so that they are at least one unit apart from one another. Show that one of the points must be located at the center of the disk. Make a sketch of a unit disk and a configuration of the seven points that depict the scenario proposed by the problem.

